

Changes at Solnick LLP

On the 1st October 2007, the practice of Susan Goddard & Co. merged with Solnick LLP.

Susan Goddard has over 25 years' experience in commercial and residential property. She set up her own property and commercial practice in Ealing in 1994, moving it to Richmond in 1996. The two firms have had a long association and Susan has often instructed the employment department at Solnick LLP to act for her clients.

Susan says "I see joining Solnick LLP as a positive step and a natural progression for my practice. With an increasing emphasis on commercial property work, it makes sense to be part of a commercial team. I have worked with Solnick LLP over the years, and have always been impressed with their work and reputation in the area".

In November 2007, Jeremy Solnick who founded the practice in 1984 will become a consultant with the firm which will continue to be run by Jonathan Golden, its managing partner. This will allow Jeremy more time to pursue the various academic studies which he currently balances with practice life.

Jonathan Golden commenting on the various moves says "Jeremy founded the firm and together we built up a successful commercial practice in Chiswick at a time when commercial work was regarded as the exclusive province of West End and City firms. Over the last few years we have established strong teams in all our practice areas. I am confident that Sue's experience and the combination of her practice with Jeremy's, will give Solnick LLP an even stronger commercial property presence in the future."
